if there are multiple layers, upper layers will be darker (lightest on bottom darkest on top).

Fold tile in half diagonally then unfold. Fold lower right edge to center line.

Fold left lower edge to center line.

Now you have a kite fold.

Fold the top point down to the left side as illustrated

It should look like this.

unfold and fold the top point to the right side.

Unfold, Pull the inner-left corner down while folding the top point back down to the right side..

This is what it should look like.

Take the bottom layer of the right corner and fold it to the center, while opening the top layer of the corner up and out.

Push down on the top point, and flatten it into a square.

The finished tile should look like this.

Eight tiles make a medallion.
